The Fire Department's new state-of-the-art fire truck

JULIA YOST-GARRILLO

Saving Lives and Property

The Mammoth Lakes Fire Department

By Jeff Pagano

THURSDAY, September 13, 7:07 p.m. About 50 volunteer firefighters have gathered for the weekly meeting. The adjoining parking lots are packed, but interestingly enough no one parks in front of the Chief's truck. Upstairs, the atmosphere is something like a football team gathered to discuss strategy. The noise level rises as conversations fly across the room. These are the men and women who fight to protect lives and property.

On this "football team," it's clear who the Coach is: Chief Jon Sweeny stands at the front of the room in a perfectly creased uniform. He speaks and the noise level drops. "Saturday we're going out to the lake to try out the new gear..." A few conversations continue. "Now you guys said you wanted to do this, so don't change your minds on me now. If you do, you're going to make me angry, and you know what happens." Bodies shift uncomfortably. The private conversations have stopped. It wasn't a threat—merely a statement of fact. Yes, they know what happens. The volunteers sit quietly now, waiting for the Chief to finish. There is only one item on tonight's agenda: Rookie testing.

"Show me how to bring in power." The rookie removes an electric utility box from the truck.

"Why do we need these?" The response is something about burning buildings not having power.

"What are we going to hook up to this at a fire?"

"Ah... a wet vacuum." "That's right, a wet vac. What else? There are four outlets."

"Lights, and fans." "That's right. What's the light on top for?"

"So you can find it in a dark, smoke filled room."

"Oh, so the light lets you know when you have power?"

"Right, that too." "Show me how to hook it up..."

"Right now, we have all the ingredients for a very serious fire start."

MLFD Fire Chief Jon Sweeny

The newcomer has obviously worked with the equipment before, but the questions are aimed not only at how, but why. What for? The emphasis is on understanding. In all, twelve test stations run nine rookies and one firefighter through drills and questions about raising ladders, hooking up hose, identifying tools, basic electric equipment, fire science, and the history of the department. There's also a shakedown ride on the new fire engine, and a timed breathing apparatus test. Rookies have 45 seconds to get the breathing apparatus on and operating—no simple feat considering the task involves an oxygen tank in a backpack, two regulators, a face mask, gloves and a helmet.

Tonight all the rookies pass. They are now officially Mammoth Lakes Firefighters. Unofficially, they're the FNG's. After a one year probation period the other firefighters will vote them into the department, and they'll become Badge Members, complete with beeper, badge, bumper sticker, and life insurance.

The Chief

Jon Sweeny has been the Fire Chief at Mammoth Lakes Fire Department for 17 years. He has every quality one would expect of a man in his position. He is concise and clear. He knows how to say exactly what's on his mind, and does. His authority is apparent, but

Supervisors Grapple With Budget

Airport's Future Debated; Could Be Sold To Town

By Benett Kessler

COUNTY OFFICIALS were pleasantly surprised prior to the commencement of budget hearings this week by news that state funding cuts are not as deep as had been anticipated and the discovery of hundreds of thousands of potential revenue from geothermal funds.

Mono County Counsel and acting County Administrative Officer Jim Reed said the staff planned to present the Board of Supervisors with a balanced budget which would include reserve and contingency account funding. "There will be no employee layoffs, we will be able to balance the budget, and by looking closer at revenue sources, we found more in some areas," Reed explained. He said the courthouse staff found "a couple hundred thousand more in geothermal revenue that will start coming in in January."

Reed said he expects there to be enough money for a cost-of-living adjustment for employees, and noted that wage negotiations will be underway after budget hearings.

A new administrative officer is expected to be on board by November 1. The board has interviewed two candidates who Reed said live outside of Mono County and were "recommended by CSAC (County Supervisors Association of California)."

The County may take a new position on the Mammoth-June Lake Airport. Much discussion about the County selling the facility to the Town of Mammoth Lakes has taken place, but Reed said, "The County has absolutely no position on which direction the airport will take. Any and all possibilities are on the table."

However, he did say that it was fortunate that the County had not accepted a bid for the new terminal. "If we negotiate with the Town on the airport, they should have input on the building of a new terminal."

Only one bid was submitted and the Federal Aviation Administration requires a minimum of three bids before awarding grant money.

The County's airport negotiating team is expected to meet soon. That group includes Reed, Supervisors Don Rake and Dan Paranic, the new CAO and County staff. "I think this issue will be done by the end of the year," Reed said.

New Tourism Commissioners Introduced to Town's Gameplan

Town Manager and Staff Brief New Team

By Wally Hofmann

THE NEW Tourism Commission looks like a baseball team coming out of spring training with a nearly new roster of players. The Commission has not only added a heavy hitter to their line-up in Ralph McMullen, they've got a new team playbook, too. At the September 11 meeting, the new Tourism team heard a rousing pep talk from their skipper that would have made even the Dodger's Tommy Lasorda proud.

If the players aren't worried, however, the management should be—83 percent of the 1990-91 budget has already been spoken for, and they haven't even left the dugout. Under all these circumstances, the fans in the stands must now be asking: Can this team produce?

Town Manager's Pep Talk

"Your mission," Town Manager Glenn Thompson told the Tourism Commission at the September 11 meeting, "is to increase tourism in the Town of Mammoth Lakes... and I want you to give it all you can and then some."

"As far as Tourism, we must do a considerably better job than we have done in the past," said Thompson. "Our event assistance program must be changed dramatically. I feel we have wasted significant amounts of money by not administering these properly."

"Our staff is here to serve you. Your job is to serve as a creative conduit to the public, and to help discover and consider alternatives."

The Town Manager welcomed the four new Tourism Commissioners, thanked them for offering their services to the community and briefly outlined their responsibilities.

Thompson also issued a challenge: "No subject is more volatile than the task you have taken on," he said. "Tourism (development) is the number one political item on the Town's agenda, and Ralph McMullen (Tourism Director) is the key resource to getting the job done... he brings a great deal of experience, and a history of success."

"I've asked Ralph to accomplish two major goals for us—one, to review the 1990-91 budget, and make a recommendation to the Town Council as to how the money should be spent; and second, to develop a clear statement of the Tourism Department's mission and where you want to go with it."

The manager said he wanted to report to the Council on the two goals by November 1.

INSIDE MAMMOTH

By Wally Hofmann

Please, just do it

"WELL, I DON'T KNOW," one speaker said. "Do you think we should recommend to defer the decision to appoint an Ad Hoc Committee on the entire Trans Mammoth Trail system? Or, should we ask the Council to make the choice for us?"

Another said: "I have to admit, I don't know the first thing about a recreational trail... I wouldn't know where to begin."

There we sat in the Community Center — a dozen or so citizens — listening to the Parks and Recreation Commission. During the first part of the meeting, the commissioners received an overview from TransMammoth Trail Consultant Larry Johnston.

At the public hearing portion of the meeting, one gentleman from the Knolls stood up and stated he and 14 other Knolls homeowners were "against the trails." Another stood up and said: "Based on my experience of working on several trail systems for other cities, I can see that Mammoth could really benefit from a trail system." He cautioned the Commissioners, however, that they had better do it right or face "opening ourselves up to a great deal of liability." A third person took the podium and spoke in favor of the trail system.

We were really starting to get somewhere. We were hearing a pretty good cross-section of opinions. The public was giving their input. Then it all stopped. These commissioners, who have been appointed to receive public input, study the issues, and report to the Council their findings, stopped every-

Why? What happened?

"These are all very good people," I thought to myself, "they're not doing this on purpose." This commission is empowered to do something, and they're doing their level best to do it. But something is very wrong here.

Later, I talked with several current and former Parks and Recreation Commissioners. The stories I heard were ominously familiar. In the past, many of their recommendations were ignored for political reasons or because of other special exceptions.

These people before us that night sounded so gun shy, so unsure. It was clear they had very little direction.

This commission first must have a goal. Has the decision been made to proceed with some type of recreational trail? If so, who is responsible for fielding the public input? The Council, the Parks and Rec Commission, or an Ad Hoc Committee?

This trail system is a very complex issue with many areas of expertise that need to be considered. Mammoth Times has and will continue to print articles and maps describing the proposed trail system. The public appears willing to participate.

It's time for the Council to clarify what the goal is; time for the commission to roll up its sleeves and get to work — either form another committee — or deal with the issue themselves.

Hold a series of detailed public meetings on each of the eight segments of the trails so that the public can understand and react to what's being considered.

It wasn't until I visited other resorts and saw what the advantages of a trail network were that I got personally involved and enthusiastic for this reality coming to Mammoth. It will be enjoyed and beneficial to Mammoth residents, visitors, and improve our delicate environment by getting more people out of their cars.

I have no axe to grind about where the trail should go — but it should go in somewhere. We must move forward with a goal in mind, and a commitment to do it and do it right.

But please, whatever we do, let's do it.

CENTURY RIDE BENEFIT

Bicyclists from throughout the state will be raising money for Wild Iris and enjoying the beautiful Eastern Sierra when the first Eastern Sierra Century ride comes to Mono and Inyo counties on October 7.

The ride is the brainchild of the local G.S. Sharks cycling club. The club is promoting the event to benefit the Wild Iris Child Assault Prevention Program. Wild Iris is a non-profit organization serving both counties through counseling, educational programs in the schools and intervention.

Three courses await the riders. A 21-mile jaunt takes in the flat Owens Valley floor near Bishop. A 55-miler adds a few mild hills, looping into Round Valley and along the Pleasant Valley Reservoir. And the full century features the beautiful, winding 3,000-foot climb along Lower Rock Creek to a spin around Long Valley. All three rides start and finish at Millpond, five miles north of Bishop just off Highway 395.

Donations for the event are $12 for the two long courses and $10 for the 21-miler. Event T-shirts are $10. All three prices go up after the September 26 pre-registration deadline, so get your entry form in early. Forms are available in Mammoth Lakes at Brian's Bicycles, Mammoth Sporting Goods and the Mammoth Times, and in Bishop at Brian's Bicycles. Or send a SASE to Century, Box 1775, Bishop, CA 93515. For more information, call 387-2645.

GEO THERMAL TESTING

The Long Valley Hydrologic monitoring program was the subject of a paper and presentation at a recent international conference held in Hawaii. The paper, prepared by Dan Lyster, the Mono County Energy Management Director, and Chris Farrar, a hydrologist for the U.S. Geological Survey, was presented to the Geothermal Resources Council.

Lyster said the presentation was "very well received. We got a lot of positive feedback from other regulatory agencies and people concerned with monitoring geothermal systems."

Lyster formed the Long Valley Hydrologic Committee in 1987 to collect baseline, or pre-project data. If the water conditions are known before a project goes in, any changes after development can be compared to the baseline. Two projects such projects are currently in the Casa Diablo area; the Mammoth Pacific II and PLES I plants nearing completion will generate electricity from geothermal resources.

Trans Mammoth Trail Far From Reality

By Sue Hollister and Jeff Pagano

SEVERAL CONCERNED citizens offered support, criticism and general advice for the proposed Trans Mammoth Trail during the September 11 Parks and Recreation Commission meeting. Interim Planning Director Bill Taylor pointed out that once the Commission studied the proposal and made its recommendations, the matter would then go before the Council, and an environmental impact report would most likely be required. # Trans Mammoth Trail Far From Reality

By Sue Hollister and Jeff Pagano

SEVERAL CONCERNED citizens offered support, criticism and general advice for the proposed Trans Mammoth Trail during the September 11 Parks and Recreation Commission meeting. Interim Planning Director Bill Taylor pointed out that once the Commission studied the proposal and made its recommendations, the matter would then go before the Council, and an environmental impact report would most likely be required. The Trans Mammoth Trail is far from becoming a reality.

The commission also discussed the creation of a special committee to study the entire trail system. Commissioner Rob Barker expressed concerns that if such a committee were created, it would be "passing the buck onto someone else." Commissioner Gail Fetherston disagreed, saying, "We should get started on forming this committee right away. A project like this is going to take some time."

Private citizens, both for and against the TMT, presented their views at the meeting. Jim Thorpe, who has previously served on two Park and Recreation Commissions in San Juan Capistrano, cited his experience with similar projects. "I'm going to tell you about things that have happened in the past with trail systems such as yours. Those who don't care to listen are doomed to experience history repeating itself."

Thorpe suggested that the Commission take a closer look at the proposed trails. "There is a discrepancy between how things appear on paper and how they actually work," he said.

Citizens opposing the TMT complained that the majority of people using the bike trails will be visitors in search of flat, relatively easy terrain travelling short distances. "You should be aware," one resident added, "there is quite a bit of litigation in Southern California because of pedestrian and bicyclist accidents." They also suggested that the trail not be located on Forest Service land because of environmental effects.

Another local resident presented a different view, saying, "It would be good for the environment because it would encourage locals to get out of their cars and start riding bikes to work on a safer route."

Scott Christensen moved to have a special meeting to review the trail system in its present form. Scheduled for Tuesday, September 25, at 7 p.m. in the Community Center, this meeting will discuss Mammoth's trails system in its entirety, including the proposed in the TMT system.

ARTS COUNCIL OFFERS GRANTS

The Mono County Arts Council recently announced its Fall grant program. All individual artists, art organizations and community service agencies which provide art or culturally related activities in Mono County are eligible to apply for financial assistance. The arts council is dedicated to increasing art and cultural opportunities throughout the county. The granting process is designed to encourage groups or individuals to create programs or projects, which will increase the artistic awareness of county residents, and the multitude of activities and performances available to the Mono County visitor.

All applications must be postmarked no later than October 1. The art council's grants committee will review the applications before making their recommendations to the MCAC board of directors. Awards will be granted in November.

Grants will be awarded to applicants who have tax-exempt status. Individual artists, non-exempt organizations or other community groups are required to have a tax-exempt sponsor, and to have been a county resident for at least one year.

For further information, or to receive an application, come to the Mono County Arts Council office in the Sierra Center Mall, or call (619) 934-3342.

TRAFFIC DELAYS ON 395

Caltrans District Director, Lew Wood, announced plans for improvements to State Highway 395 in Mono County from September 17 through September 21. Repair work on the highway in Walker Canyon will begin at approximately 9:00 A.M. and continue until 5:00 P.M., with traffic delays up to 20 minutes.

Motorists are advised to take an alternate route to avoid the work and delays. A suggested alternate is Sweetwater Road, Route 182 out of Bridgeport to Nevada Route 338 through Wellington, then Route 208 back to route 395 at Holbrook Junction.

Drivers are urged to proceed with caution through the work area, watch for workers, and GIVE 'EM A BRAKE.

LIBRARY EXPANSION PLANNED

Plans to expand the Mammoth Branch of the Mono County library were recently received by the Town Planning Commission. The building will be located on the same site, but will be more than twice the size of the existing structure. Plans will be reviewed by planning commission in early October.

SENIORS URGED TO GET FLU SHOTS

County health officials are urging seniors and all people age 55 and older to take advantage of the availability of $2 flu shots to protect themselves this winter's viruses. The health department will be sponsoring flu clinics during October. "With aging, disease-fighting ability often slows down. Without a flu shot, a case of flu can develop and worsen rapidly," said Dr. Jack Bertman, county health officer.

The 1990-91 influenza vaccine provides protection against three strains of influenza which health officials think may cause illness in the U.S. this winter: A/Shanghai/89 (H3N2), A/Taiwan/86 (H1N1), and B/Yamagata. A/Taiwan/86 primarily affects children and young adults.

Last year over 500 residents received flu shots through the county health department program. "For protection, seniors and others at high risk need to receive flu vaccine every year," explained Dr. Bertman.

Adults who receive flu immunization at these clinics also may obtain a pneumococcal pneumonia immunization and tetanus-diphtheria boosters. The pneumococcal vaccine is administered once in a lifetime and is recommended for all persons age 65 and older, as well as younger persons with chronic health problems. The charge for the pneumococcal shot at the Mono County Health Department clinics is $2.00.

Tetanus boosters are needed by all adults every 10 years. The charge for the Td booster is $2.00. Fees for immunizations may be waived if the person is unable to pay. Blood pressure screening and children's immunizations available also for all clinic dates.

ECOLOGY QUILT TO BE RAFFLED

Earth Day 1990 was celebrated last April with the completion of an ecology quilt at Lee Vining Elementary School. Selected children from each grade level transferred their environmental messages onto quilt squares. Planet Earth, whales, and "stamp out styrofoam" logos highlighted the quilt. Their iron-on designs were sewn to a green backing and quilted by Kandy Veenker, Debbie Clayton, Lauren Porter, Susan Morrow, Debbie Hennek, and Nancy Lyttle, all parents of LVES students.

This beautiful and inspiring 60"x72" quilt will be raffled off at the LVES Back-to-School Night on September 26 at 7:00 P.M. Proceeds will go towards the purchase of two new printers for the school's computer lab. Tickets may be purchased from students for $1 each. Three $5 gift certificates have been donated by McDonald's for the top three ticket sellers. For further information, contact the school at 647-6460.

NATIONAL ARTS WEEK

National Arts Week '90 is set for September 23-29. The Mono County Arts Council suggests several ways Mono County residents can show support for the arts. 1. Join your local art organization. In Coleville the Easter Sierra Arts Guild is very active with artists and craftspersons. In June Lake, the June Lake Arts Guild offers a summer exhibition and children's art workshops. In Mammoth there are several organizations: The Mammoth Lakes Arts Guild, the High Sierra Musical theatre, Sierra Summer Festival and the Music Society of the Eastern Sierra. 2. Visit your local art gallery or attend a cultural event. The Mono County Arts Office Gallery is exhibiting the work of Mark Allison through October, and the High Sierra Musical Theatre will be presenting musical performances during September in the Performing Arts Tent. 3. Visit a gallery. Gary and Sallee Burns have relocated their gallery, Tree Wizard Gallery in June Lake and it is well worth a visit. The Eastern Sierra Trading Company in Bridgeport displays local Native American art work; in Coleville, High Country Realty displays the work of members of the Eastern Sierra Arts Guild. In Mammoth Lakes the galleries are Mammoth Gallery, Gallery in the Pines, Mammoth Handicrafts, and Art Weiss's Gallery of Fine Art Platinum Photographs. 4. Visit an artist's studio. In June Lake, Gary Burns will share his wood carving studio and Sallee's ceramic studio, and in Crowley Lake, Sandy Sanderson and Cooky will share their jewelry studio. In Mammoth Art Weiss offers a tour of his platinum studio.

National Arts Week is for everyone and time for the people to focus on the arts and creativity in their own community.

CONSTITUTION WEEK

The Mono County Board of Supervisors recently proclaimed September 17 as Constitution Day and the week of September 17-23 as Constitution Week. The proclamation stated that "it is important that all citizens fully understand the provisions, principles and meaning of the Constitution so that they can support, preserve and defend it against encroachment..." and that "the Bicentennial of the Constitution provides a historic opportunity for all Americans to learn about and to reflect upon the rights and privileges of citizenship and its responsibilities. The proclamation was unanimously passed and adopted on September 4.

BODIE PARK HOURS SET

Bodie State Historic Park will now be open from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. Park hours are strictly enforced. The Bodie Museum will be open from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. Use fees: $5.00 per vehicle and $40.00 per bus.

FOREST SERVICES REDUCED

The Inyo National Forest will be reducing its services to the public beginning with a change of operation hours on all four ranger districts. The Mammoth Ranger District/Visitor Center hours will be 8-4:30 daily, closed 12-1 for lunch. The office will be closed on weekends beginning Saturday, September 22. As of now, Pine City, Lake George and portions of Coldwater, Twin Lakes and New Shady Rest campgrounds are closed for the season as are Red's Meadow and Pumice campgrounds.

The White Mountain Ranger District is now open Monday - Friday, 8:00-4:30. The Bristlecone Pine Forest Visitor Center will be open on weekends only through October 8, hours 9:00 to 5:00, with naturalist talks given at 11:00 A.M. and 2:00 P.M. at Schulman Grove.

The Mt. Whitney Ranger District hours are now Monday - Saturday, 8:00-4:30. They will close at lunch from 12:00-1:00. These hours will be in effect through October 15 when they start closing on the weekends for the winter.

The Mono Lake Ranger District hours are now 8:00 - 4:30, Monday - Friday. The Rush Creek Trailhead is now closed for the season, and the Saddlebag Lake Resort will close October 1.

For a complete list of campgrounds and entrance stations that will be closing, contact the appropriate ranger district.

NO-LICK STAMPS TO TROOPS

The U.S. Postal Service recently announced that it is shipping more than 400,000 self-adhesive stamps to troops deployed in Saudi Arabia. Strong, durable and fitted with a superior glue, the no-lick stamps are especially suited to the wind and hot temperatures of the desert of Saudi Arabia. These conditions, combined with the troops' heavy activity, create moisture which causes regular stamps to stick together. Introduced on a test basis in the United States last November, the stamps can be applied using pressure only.

GARAMENDI RESIGNS STATE SENATE SEAT

On September 4 John Garamendi announced his resignation from the State Senate to pursue his fulltime candidacy for State Insurance Commissioner. Garamendi has served in the Legislature since 1974. He said his decision was based on four considerations: his campaign for statewide office; the cost of a special election to replace him; voter turnout; and, continuous representation in the 5th Senate District. "My resignation from the Senate before November, after 16 years in the Legislature, is not a decision I take lightly," said Garamendi. He added, "I have enjoyed working for my district. I feel I have accomplished much."

His wife Patti has announced she will run for his vacated Senate seat.

YOSEMITE'S FUTURE TO BE DISCUSSED

Don Fox, long-time landscape architect for Yosemite National Park, will present a slide show and lead a group discussion on "Yosemite's Centennial — Prospects for the Future." The program will begin at 7:30 P.M. at the White Mountain Research Station, East Line Street, Bishop, on Wednesday, October 10. Guests are welcome. Refreshments will be served. For further information, call Sylvia at 873-8461.

Creek Restoration

Re-Creating Mountain Streams

By G. Marlowe Fenne

FOLLOWING ORDERS issued by Eldorado County Superior Court Judge Terrence Finney in a landmark decision in late June of this year, the LADWP recently began restoration of Parker Creek and Walker Creek which feed into Mono Lake.

Flows in each of the three mile long creeks were interrupted almost half a century ago in 1941 when water was diverted for irrigation purposes, according to DWP range and wildlife specialist Brian Tillemans. Large diversion boxes were installed, and several channels were carved to lead water away from the major stream beds and spread it over a wide grazing area. As water flowing through the new smaller streams increased, large banks formed around them. In the original creekbeds, dirt fell into the empty waterways as banks collapsed. Cottonwood trees and many other plants quickly grew into a thick canopy, concealing evidence that a stream had once existed in the area. As a result of this process which occurred steadily for almost fifty years, discerning where the original creeks flowed has proven to be a formidable challenge. Specialists from the DWP and several other agencies have walked every tributary and diversion from the original creek, finding many dead ends and loops.

Restoration efforts are the result of cooperation between five different agencies: the National Audubon Society, CalTrout, the Department of Fish and Game, the Mono Lake Committee and the DWP.

Representatives of each agency visited the site together and took approximately one week to reach an agreement.

"The spirit of cooperation was really good. I couldn't believe how quickly we came to an agreement," said Tillemans.

The agencies also agreed to hire Fisheries Specialist Scott English from Northwest Biological Consultants to help with the project. English's job is to supervise work crews and make certain all Judge Finney's specifications are met. "I'm Judge Finney's eyes here at the restoration site," said English.

The creeks are also being restored using historical information compiled with help of Catherine Clover, whose father established the 400 acre Cain ranch nearby. Clover has a collection of family photos of picnics and other outings which are being used to reconstruct a picture of the area as it looked in 1941.

Once the pre-1941 paths of the creeks were discovered and staked out, construction crews began removing dirt, rocks, trees and other obstacles. In many places, dirt had to be removed until the original gravel was found, sometimes three feet below the ground. Branches of many large trees and bushes blocking the stream were removed with axes and chain saws, with more than 20 laborers, mostly college students on summer break, doing the work.

In an area just east of highway 395, one of the most difficult tasks associated with the project is being completed as heavy equipment removes a mountain of gravel that was pushed into the empty stream bed by CalTrans. Excavation of the rock means digging a gravel pit more 1200 feet long and up to 40 feet deep in places.

Because the creeks are being

According to DWP range and wildlife specialist Brian Tillemans, stream flows in several creeks were interrupted almost half a century ago in 1941 when water was diverted for irrigation purposes.

restored to serve as fish habitat, dirt had to be removed from under many bank undercuts and tree roots so that the Brown trout introduced into the area next spring will have an optimum environment. Some large roots were left to create eddies and pools, which will in turn improve spawning.

In many ways, rebuilding the streams is like creating them anew. The course of the creek has to be decided, and grass, trees, and other plants have to take root there to stabilize some of the recently-built banks. Specific water levels must be set and maintained so that the fish will survive the replanting process and live to repopulate the area.

"It's hard to tell what's going to happen in certain areas," said Tillemans. Because the soil is very dry, it will act like a sponge when the creeks are re-filled, making it hard to determine how much water will be necessary to maintain creek levels suitable for fish. To monitor water volume, several gauging stations will be set up at various points along the creeks. Before restoration work began, a water balance model was used to determine long range effects on local lakes and streams.

As part of his ruling, Judge Finney set interim flows at 6 cubic feet per second in the winter and 9 cfs in summer. During a 30-day flushing period each spring, flows will reach 25 cfs. Final flows will be established by 1992, to be determined by the level of Mono Lake and other factors. December 1991 is the deadline for all restoration work.

"If all goes well, Walker and Parker Creeks could provide some of the best Brown trout fishing in the country," said Tillemans. Red Tail Hawks, Golden Eagles, deer and Mountain Lions and other animals may also repopulate the area if fish re-planting is successful.

not an obstacle. He's affable and earthy with the men (and women, he's likely to remind) of the department. A modest Navy man with a legacy of firefighting going back at least three generations, Sweeny started by himself and built the department. Unafraid of being stereotypical, he's even got a Dalmatian named Lady.

He came to Mammoth from the Mid Valley Fire Protection District, in the Fresno area. Married, with three children (one son is a firefighter), Sweeny began his career as a seasonal firefighter with the State Forestry Service in 1954. He was interested in firefighting for several reasons, "It certainly wasn't because of the money. It's the kind of job that I always felt I would be good at. My family has been into this line of work for a long time. I have a brother that was a Fire Chief, and my grandfather was Fire Chief back in the Midwest."

Hired as the town's first Fire Chief, Sweeny was given the task of creating a volunteer fire department "When I first came over here, I was by myself. I didn't even have a secretary. It was interesting. I was fortunate that I was able to just sit down with these guys and deal with them person-to-person. They wanted to learn to be good firefighters, and that was my job — to teach them. As time went on, the town grew and the department became more complex. My time had to be devoted to administrative things and not so much to the training, so in 1980 we hired an Assistant Chief."

That position is currently held by Marty Larson, who performs the Fire Marshal duties, including inspections on construction and permits. "It's a big job," offers Sweeny, "he's doing that and coordinating volunteer training, and on top of that he's taking care of the paramedics." Sweeny originally did the training and inspections himself, but the task grew beyond one man's abilities. Now Larson is running out of hours in a day. "It's a real issue. He doesn't have enough time to do everything he's got to do. We thought we were going to remedy that, but now with the County budget cuts, we may not be able to bring in the paramedic coordinator we were planning to hire to solve that problem."

Budget cuts are hampering paramedics even more than firefighters. There are currently 12 full-time paramedics and six Emergency Medical Technicians. "Unfortunately, those six EMT positions are filled by paramedics who are working for less money," states Sweeny. Cutbacks in the County budget has raised some tough questions, questions Sweeny isn't afraid to address. "The preliminary report from the County is that they want to continue to fund the program, but they're not going to be able to give the paramedics the salary adjustments they wanted this year. It's a shame, I've got to say, the medics here really work hard."

Aside from the paramedics, there are only five full-time, paid employees. Barbara Coleman is the Secretary for the Fire District, John Nielsen is the station mechanic, and Marcea Vandermeer handles the bookkeeping.

The remainder of the department are volunteers. There are 63 men and three women are on the active duty roster. They meet every Thursday night to drill, reinforce training, and familiarize themselves with new equipment. It takes a considerable amount of time to train and maintain a volunteer firefighting staff. "If we don't practice and manipulate the equipment, then we lose our skills," Sweeny points out. "Fortunately, less than one percent of our time is spent fighting fires." The department has responded to about 160 calls and expects a total of 230 calls for the year. Their average response time? "From the second 911 pages us to when the first piece of equipment rolls out of the station is under two minutes, on average," says

Interested in Becoming a Volunteer?

"We're looking for people that have an interest in the community and want to provide a public service. They don't have to be firefighters or have any knowledge of it. We'll train them," Chief Sweeny explained. The department advertises during the spring, and classes begin in June. Training is held on Tuesday evenings throughout the summer.

Is Firefighting Dangerous?

"Our #1 priority has always been safety first. Firefighting is dangerous only if you go in without the proper level of training. The more you know, the safer you are," explains Engineer Bret Bihler. "That's why we're always striving to improve our training."

"Station #2 was built with a training tower, and that tower has given us a lot of confidence. We've honed our firefighting skills to a fine tuned edge. We can put non-toxic smoke or start a fire in the tower and create a real-life environment. It gives everyone confidence in their equipment and in the buddy system, so that when a real incident occurs, they go in and put out a fire or perform a search and rescue."

Annual Fireman's Picnic

Back in the early 70s, firefighters decided to host an event specifically for kids. "There were a lot of young guys on the department, and they felt the kids didn't really have anything to do," explained Sweeny. "There wasn't really an event for kids, so the guys decided to throw a picnic. We like the adults to be there of course, but we really do it for the kids."

Today the picnic is a popular summertime event. "We probably had the biggest crowd ever this year. We sold out of everything," said Sweeny. However, the picnic is far from being a profitable venture. Net profit from this year's picnic was approximately $1200, but the event grossed $16,000. "If we didn't have the raffle, we'd definitely be in the red." Who benefits? The kids. They get to play the games and wear the hats. "The approach with the picnic is that it's entirely for the kids."

Fire Advice for Homeowners

"Be careful with barbecues and fireplaces — it's still dry. We're getting into Fall now, and it might be time to think about having flues cleaned," said Sweeny. Also, check your smoke detector. If you don't have one, get one. "The day the time changes from Daylight Savings time to Standard time, and vice versa, that's the day to put a new battery in the smoke detector." For in-house fire protection, the department recommends a 2A 10BC extinguisher. "It's small and easy to operate. Put it in the kitchen area, because that seems to be where most fires occur in the house." Extinguisher cost from $40 to $80.

Who's on First?

Rookies still in training are at the bottom rung of the Fire Department ladder. Above them are the Firefighter or Badge Members, who have been on staff for a year. Engineers are next, undergoing ten weeks of intensive training where they learn how to operate equipment and drive fire engines. Captains are in charge of specific pieces of equipment and numbers of people; Battalion Chiefs handle specific jobs at the fire scene, with the Captains reporting to them. The Assistant Chief handles volunteer training, paramedics, and Fire Marshal duties. The Fire Chief oversees the entire operation and spends time on administrative details. Finally, the Board of Fire Commissioners, representatives from the community, set policy.

He was born and raised in the Reno-Lake Tahoe area, went to school in Southern California and drove through Mammoth Lakes frequently starting in the mid-50s. Douglas Van Howd did a lot of skiing in Mammoth, has friends here and watched how Dave McCoy developed his ski area over the years.

"Being a sculptor and primarily a wildlife artist, I got the idea of doing the wooly Mammoth for Mammoth Lakes," he recalls. Van Howd made a model, showed it to Dave McCoy, the Kittredges, and others he knew here. They got excited, and Van Howd decided to make 50 12-inch-high Mammoths to sell at $5,000 each. That plan was designed to pay for the whole project with no profit.

And so, the idea of a life-size bronze wooly Mammoth for Mammoth Mountain Ski Area was born.

MT: How do you go about making a sculpture as big as the big Mammoth?

Van Howd: Well, that is a real project. It had to be cast in 125 pieces, all put together with a stainless steel structure inside. It took about a year and three months just for the physical building of it. First, we had to mock it up and make an actual size clay model. Then we had to pull silicon and fiber glass molds off of that. And then we had to cut those into pieces and cast each piece which would weigh a tremendous amount. Then we had to weld those together inside and out.

MT: Have you made something this big before?

DVH: The Mammoth is the largest in volume. We did an 18-foot humpbacked whale for Hawaii which was delivered last May. We've also done an eight-foot bison. But these were relatively small compared to the bulk of the Mammoth.

MT: What was Dave McCoy's reaction to this idea?

DVH: He loved it. He was very excited about it, and consequently he offered to build the site for it and to have it all heated. He got real excited about it. To keep the process moving, he funded me ahead of time to keep it going. He's been very instrumental and very helpful.

MT: You seem to have a dedication or maybe even obsession with animals around the world.

DVH: I've been to Africa several times and have studied the African elephants. I'd hate to see them be annihilated from the face of the earth. We look at something like this wooly Mammoth, and people who don't have the opportunity to go to Africa and see these magnificent animals look at this and say, "Well, this is an instinct animal." Let's not let this happen to our African elephants or any animal in the world. I have enjoyed the piece that way, reminding people that this is an animal that was once here and is now extinct. It's basically the same size as an African elephant. Actually, it's a little smaller. It's a life-size wooly Mammoth which is 10 feet. An African elephant can be as high as 13 feet. We have these magnificent creatures walking throughout the world. And for us to sit back and not do anything about the preservation of them is too bad.

MT: Why do you feel that way?

DVH: I think there's a whole ecological system of the world. When you see these animals and see how tremendous they are, it would be a pity to have them wiped off the face of the earth. We're having a real problem with the rhino. There are very few. I think it's our duty to oversee the wildlife of the world. It even speaks of this in the Bible. God has given man dominion over the wildlife, and I think it's our responsibility.

MT: How do you interpret dominion?

DVH: I look at that as saying that we are responsible. When He gives us dominion over the wildlife, I phrase that as we are responsible for them. We are the super being on earth and have the capability of annihilating everything there is. We have a responsibility. That comes through direct management and overseeing these creatures. I'm not against hunting and all of that, but I think there's a balance between what is rightfully done and what isn't. I've been to Africa on patrols, for instance, collecting wire snares. In one month, we collected over 5,000 wire snares in one area. It was devastating to see what was happening. I experience that. I've been there to see these great elephants and have made a study of them. That study helped me put together the wooly Mammoth.

MT: How would you convince someone who sees animals as less than life and to be used for profit that this is not so?

DVH: I think it's a thermometer for human life. When you have birds disappearing because of pollution, they're the first thing affected. Down the line it will hit us. We fit into the picture with all the other wildlife. Why should we say we should be the only inhabitants of the world? In most cases, it's our infringement on their habitat that causes the problems. There need to be areas set aside for wildlife which has been done in this country. The convincing of the African governments has to be done. Their tourist economy is based on those who want to see the animals. In Kenya right now they are making a real effort to stop poachers. In fact, they have gone to the extreme of shooting the poachers. They've set up an army, and when they find poachers they shoot them. It is working. They went from 10,000 elephants a month being poached down to a 1,000 now. But still, a 1,000 a month!

MT: You've done works for other countries. How do they feel about animals?

DVH: I get the feeling that they really don't have the feeling for wildlife that we in America do. It's an educational process. I'm always on a bandwagon when I go. They usually want something indicative of America — I'll do a bald eagle or some other animal. But I always go as an ambassador for wildlife. It's a big part of my interest. Consequently, I've started the Van Howd Wildlife Federation, which is a non-profit organization to hopefully raise money for problems with wildlife that I see coming up in the world.

MT: How do you feel about the art world today — the works being produced?

DVH: People today are going more and more toward realism. As our world becomes more complicated, as you can bring a freshness of a real outdoors and life into their home or office, there's a peace and reward that it gives them. It's a complicated world. Realism gives a fresh approach. But tastes are varied. We all have our own interpretation. Mine is real life and very detailed.

MT: When are you and the wooly Mammoth set to arrive here?

DVH: The Mammoth will arrive Thursday and the presentation, unveiling was set on Friday. We had hoped to bring it over by helicopter, but the costs were prohibitive — $15,000 for a two-hour flight. So we're trucking it over on the southern route through Bakersfield. We'll wrap it with plastic and a tarp, strapped on an open flatbed trailer.

MT: What makes Douglas Van Howd happy?

DVH: Well, I think accomplishing something like the wooly Mammoth. It has been a more than two year project, and this piece will be there when we're all long gone. It'll still be there. Literally thousands a year will see it. This is very rewarding to me as an artist to see these big monuments go into place and represent something of wildlife. My whole life is based on wildlife and art. This is what makes me happy.

Veterans talk of 1988, the year Contel, Snowcreek and the Knolls all burned. "Those were some serious fires," recalls Sweeny. The Snowcreek blaze involved six buildings and destroyed 16 units. "That fire tapped out our resources completely."

Although it makes her day a little more exciting, Secretary Barbara Coleman is glad there haven't been any such calls this summer. "We've been really lucky this year," says Coleman.

No More Ladders on Ice

The tragedy at Convict Lake brought national attention to the area and continues to be a concern at the department. "We had a lot of dialogue in the department as to whether we wanted to get involved in this," Sweeny explains, "I have a personal problem with this because I don't want to jeopardize anyone's life. In an ice rescue, you're putting people at a real big risk. Big risk. I have a real problem with that. The conditions were, you guys assure me you're not at risk, that we can protect you, and I'll go along with the program."

"We now have floatation suits that the guys will be wearing, and they can actually go out on the ice. They'll be harnessed and hooked to a line. They'll carry life vests and collars they can put on the victims and hook them up to the lines so we can pull them back to shore." The rescuers won't have to worry about the coldness of the water or staying afloat because these suits are insulated and buoyant. The Saturday training the Chief mentioned at the meeting is to familiarize the firefighters with the new equipment. Sweeny admits, "Sometimes I have to ride the guys a little to remind them of what was said."

Current Danger

While equipment is being purchased and training organized to prevent past tragedies from reoccurring, there is a situation that requires the department's immediate attention. "We've received less rain than usual, we've had super dry conditions for the last two years, and we have some serious wind conditions," Sweeny observed. "Right now, we have all the ingredients for a very serious fire start. It would be something that would be a real problem for us to handle. But as I've said all along, people are watching what's going on, and we just haven't had any starts because people have been careful. Even though our situation is serious here, it's also serious every place in California. In response, we've increased our training with the volunteers to deal with wildfires because we know that's probably the main thing that's going to cause us the most trouble—a wild fire that starts outside of town and comes into town."

As a preventative measure, the Forest Service and the MLFD have teamed up to clear a protective zone, or fuel break, around the town. "We are in the process of placing a fuel break around the town, but that won't be finished probably for another year or so. You might say it's after the fact, because here we are sitting in the middle of a problem and we're trying to deal with it. But we also had a bureaucratic delay because we did an EIR and the rest of those things before we started the project."

A crew of 15 inmates is working four days a week clearing the 30 to 40 foot break. "All we're doing is picking up the dead and down logs and removing dead branches and low brush. We're not falling any trees. All this is a fuel modification so if a fire did come at us we would have

Two New Commissioners Seated

Mary Kermode and Gary Shultz were recently appointed to two commission seats vacated by Michael Otoshi and David Watson, bringing the total number of commissioners to five. Kermode and Shultz are both scheduled to serve two-year terms.

Two more appointees, David Moss and Robin Falkingham, were also present for the meeting. When the recently passed ordinance creating two new seats goes into effect on October 5, Moss and Falkingham, the Council's top vote-getters, will begin their four-year terms.

Town Attorney's Overview

Following the manager's welcome, Town Attorney Peter Tracy gave the Commissioners an overview of procedures that affect their appointments. Tracy explained the Brown Act, and related issues such as "serial meetings" where members might informally poll each other on the phone. He also impressed upon the new commissioners the need to follow not only the letter of the law, but the spirit of the law as well, so as not to cast the appearance of questionable behavior.

"The bottom line is to be sure that what you do affects the public equally. Be sure that there's a rational basis for what you do — basically, have a good reason."

Tourism Director's Update

"I've been on the job for five days. I've met the staff, and I've worked closely with Jeff Irons and Peggy Kukulus. I've also been able to meet about 70 other members of our community," Tourism Director Ralph McMullen told the commissioners.

McMullen, whose office is in the Visitor's Center near Kukulus' office and the rest of the Visitor Information staff, reminded the commission that the Tourism Department has a vacant secretarial position which is likely to be filled by the end of the month.

Recently, he has been meeting with local and state officials to explore the marketing opportunities presently available for Mammoth. McMullen and Evan Russell, the Marketing Director for Mammoth Mountain, have met with several key political members of the State's Tourism Department. McMullen added that he and Russell agreed that Mammoth should take full advantage of these organizations "to help get our piece of the pie."

"We cannot be an island in the tourism business," Russell added from the audience. "We should look for ways to participate in many ways, and Ralph is well-connected and has a great deal of background in national organizations."

Review of Tourism Budget

Town Finance Director Tracy Fuller brought the commissioners up to date on the current financial status of the Tourism Budget. "The $874,200 originally budgeted by the former Council is divided up into three areas," Fuller explained. According to a budget analysis which was current as of August 30, 1990, $115,763 is allocated for administrative costs, $445,658 is allocated for public affairs, and $313,779 is allocated for tours. Of the $874,200 originally available, $245,942 has already been spent, leaving $629,258. Of that figure, however, $481,442 has been committed, which means only $147,816 is left in this year's marketing budget.

Fuller noted that the Transient Occupancy Tax totals for the first, second and fourth quarters have been showing very sluggish growth over the past several years. "This situation concerns me very much," she added.

Asked if she could predict what this coming quarter's TOT revenues might be, Fuller replied, "I never make predictions." When pressed for some type of indications she offered the closest, most reliable method to date — MCWD sewer flows. "Sewer flows provide the best correlation of our TOT revenues I've been able to find."

"So is this what they mean when they say 'flushing out the budget'?" mused Acting Chairman Chris Plakos.

"This is the first time I've ever heard of a TOT correlated with sewage flows, but I'll use whatever measures we have if they work," added McMullen.

Plakos suggested that the commissioners needed a more current estimate of TOT revenues than those provided by the quarterly report, and instructed McMullen to research ways produce more timely figures.

"This town actually lives off our TOT," said Fuller. "Up to now, we have covered the costs of 50 percent of our General Fund for services, roads and administration by the TOT, which comes primarily from our visitors," she added.

McMullen summarized the purpose of the morning's meeting, saying "Today we have been shown where we are. In our next meeting, during our marketing workshop, we'll be discussing ways to stretch our dollars and bring in our business community and others throughout the state into our programs," he said.

"I'll come back with a plate of options, ways we're taking advantage of now, and explore ways which funds may be shifted. And at that meeting we'll begin to make recommendations and decisions with a full board, with the public's help."

"And remember," McMullen concluded, "there really isn't $875,000 to work with, a lot of that money has already been spent."

Before adjourning the meeting, commissioners asked several questions which will be taken up at the next meeting, including:

- Kermode — "What monies were presently budgeted for promotions and advertising?"
  - Moss — if the commission gave $50,000 to the Sierra Summer Festival, shouldn't consideration be given to trying to recoup our facilities costs from events?
  - McMullen — $6,000 had been allocated for taking down the soft shell structure (a.k.a. the Performing Arts Center) and that a decision ought to be made as to what should be done with the tent in the future.
- No doubt the new commissioners and the new Tourism Director will all face a great number of challenges at their new posts. With a number of vacant positions recently filled, at least they now have some of the manpower necessary to meet these new challenges.

By the MUSD Board of Trustees

Compelled to Ask the Question

Regrettably, the issue of interdistrict student transfers has only been in the news as of late because of the filing of a lawsuit by the Mammoth Unified School District in Mono County Superior Court. This question has been the focus of intense concern by the Board of Trustees for over a year with several district and joint district board meetings concentrating on this issue.

The lawsuit was not filed in anger or with hostility. The lawsuit was not filed against nor directed at an individual student or an individual family. The lawsuit was filed to ask the question of whether this district is in charge of its own resources or ultimately whether the Mono County Board is.

This District was compelled to ask the question in court because the Mono County Board action overturning our denial of one transfer application while upholding our denial of several others left us with no guidelines, no policy direction and no framework by which we can plan for the impact of this issue in the future.

MUSD was compelled to retain independent counsel to frame the legal question because Schools Legal Services, our regular legal counsel, also represents the Mono County School District as well as Eastern Sierra Unified School District.

This district is experiencing the impact of transfers on staff and facility. The taxpayers of this district are bearing the entire burden of providing the facilities and some portion of the operations. A brief overview of the history of the study, debate and policy decisions on the transfer issue by the current Board of Trustees may serve to enlarge and clarify one's understanding of the question.

Some parents of students from the Eastern Sierra Unified School District, dissatisfied with the educational opportunities provided at Lee Vining schools have, through the procedures of guardianships and special need transfers, been allowed to send their children to Mammoth schools for years.

The serious study of the transfer question by the MUSD Board began in the fall of 1989 when it became apparent that our school facilities were going to be impacted by our rapid growth. The trustees attended a joint meeting of the Mono County Board, and the Eastern Sierra Board regarding a Petition filed by some citizens of June Lake which requested the California State Board of Education allow the June Lake attendance area to be annexed to the Mammoth Unified School District.

In response to the petition and the joint meeting, and within a month's time, the MUSD board announced and held a public workshop for our constituents in the district. School reorganization experts were invited to attend and educate all of us on the law, the process and the consequences.

A focused and businesslike examination of the physical and fiscal ramifications of annexation to MUSD has been underway since that time. Over a dozen Board agenda items on the subject in the next year were addressed. Public input has been continuously invited and received. Two more joint workshops with the Mono County Board and the Eastern Sierra Board hosted by MUSD were convened this Spring. There have been countless individual conversations with trustees and interested members of the community.

In the meantime, the June Lake Petition was rejected, first by the Mono County Board and then by the state Board of Education. The petition was rejected because it is the law of the state that rather than allowing people to cross or easily change attendance district lines when they are unhappy with their particular school or school district, they are charged with staying in their community and effecting the changes they want within their community schools. Community schools are considered of paramount importance under state law.

As a result of an examination of the questions which arose out of the June Lake petition, and the feedback from faculty, staff and parents who have diligently followed the evolution of the problem in our district, it became increasingly clear to the Board of Trustees that the student transfer policy had to be re-examined. As in any complicated issue, considerations are not undertaken in a vacuum nor simply on the basis of emotional reactions to the question, although, as with any matter dealing with kids it is emotional.

In the spring of 1990, at the third joint meeting among the county school boards, the Eastern Sierra Board admitted that it was facing a crisis of confidence and that it had been remiss for some time in addressing many of the concerns of its district constituents, including the transfer question. The MUSD board was asked to look at our transfer policy in the context of how our accepting transfer students was disruptive to Eastern Sierra's chances of rectifying its own internal problems. Eastern Sierra asked MUSD not to take transfers, at least until it had some time to work through its situation.

This summer the MUSD board rejected transfer applications of all but those students who were already attending high school at Mammoth. A part of the decision to reject the transfer applications was based on the plea of the Eastern Sierra board. There are other compelling reasons:

The Board of Trustees first owes a basic responsibility to the people in its district. The taxpayers of the district pay, in large part, for our schools and our children's education. The trustees owe their first duty to the folks who live and work and raise their families in this District and who pay for the quality schools the young people attend.

The student enrollment in both the high school and elementary school are up a staggering 30 percent the last three years. Projections for the future are for continued growth in student population. The $3,400 per student per year which the District receives from the state and local taxpayers does not pay for the impact on the facility needs. A small student-teacher ratio is a fundamental priority in this District's educational policy. Parents have insisted on this priority to the board consistently. This ratio is impacted by the transfers.

If the MUSD participates in the piece-meal disruption of the Eastern Sierra School District by accepting transfers, that District's question of survival cannot be fairly confronted and our District cannot competently continue to work on long range plans.

The Mono County board overruled MUSD's denial of a transfer of one student. It upheld MUSD's denial of four other transfer applications. That decision is unfocused and inconsistent. Based upon our board's understanding and belief that our district had the right to fashion district policy based upon the best education for all our children in this district, a rejection by the Mono County board of our District's concerns, "called for the question."

The District retained one of the foremost school/education law firms in California, representing, among other clients, the California School Boards Association to help us pose the question in the Superior Court. Granted this is a complex issue but it has nothing to do with water and water rights.

Judge Denton did not rule on whether the Mono County Board made the right decision. He ruled that the Board had the authority to make the decision. The District invested $7,000 in this legal action to try to protect the right to control our resources now and in the future.

This board continues to believe and maintain that the Mono County board decision was incorrect because it perpetuates an uncertain and inconsistent approach to the transfer question and it is not sensitive to the stated concerns of either the Eastern Sierra Unified District or the Mammoth Unified School District.

The concerns in our District are voiced by parents who live and work in the District. Those concerns have been shared at our meetings by the parents of elementary school children who are working hand-in-hand with the board and the faculty and staff to work out solutions to increasingly oversized classes. Those concerns have been voiced by the faculty of both school sites who are the professionals we depend upon for a clear understanding of the impact on educational quality in times of student population growth and a shrinking educational dollar.

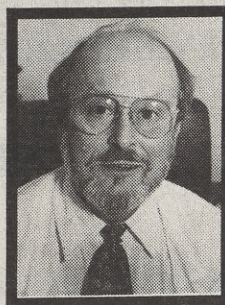

Each member of the Board of Trustees of the Mammoth Unified School District is a parent. Each one of us has fretted personally and collectively over the impact of our transfer policy on all the youngsters both in and out of our district. We have also fretted over the decision by the Mono County board and the Mono County Superior Court. While we are not inclined to continue with the litigation of this matter in court, we must continue to articulate the reasons for our policy. As importantly, we urge input from the people in our district on this issue as well as all the positive issues, goals, projects and plans which we have before us.

Ban "Sign Cop"

Editor:

Labor Day weekend I was driving through the town looking for ski equipment sales. I stopped at a store with a "Sale" banner clearly visible from the road to us unknowing non-residents. Also visible was an indication that this was a sports shop. Perfect — just what I was looking for!

While at the check-out counter, the manager was bringing back in the "Sale" banner. It seems that the Mammoth "Sign Cop" decided that the banner hurt the town's image and was illegal. I don't believe it is in the tourist's or the town's interest to keep the identity of businesses a town secret. I will not go door to door looking for a particular type of business or sales event. It will be easier to shop down south. If tourists reduce their shopping in Mammoth, it will hurt all residents, except, of course, for the "Sign Cop," who will stay employed by keeping people unemployed.

If the town's planning commission was really interested in the town's image, why did it allow a four-story pale blue hotel, suitable for the seashore, but totally out of character with Mammoth, to be built near the main entrance of the town? I recommend that the town change its laws to allow the use of reasonable signs, clearly visible from the road by the town's visitors. I also recommend the town's planning commission improve the town's image (and its own!) by requiring that developments conform to the "Mammoth Heritage," not to the Maine seashore!

Blind on Housing

Editor:

Hooray for Wally Hofmann and his article on "NIMBYism" in the September 6-12 edition of Mammoth Times.

He certainly has hit the nail right on the head! How can the Town Council be so blind on the issue of affordable housing for employees of the Mountain. Isn't this a little like killing the goose that lays the golden egg?

Get a Clue

Editor:

In response to Marlowe Fenne's opinion column September 6, I would like to make an objection. Your comment that you would rather pay two dollars for gas than to subject young Americans to death is an insult to those who are in uniform and are making such brave sacrifices in Saudi Arabia at this moment. Those who are there know that they are the front line of force to stop a madman from destroying the status-quo in the world. You would have known that, had you set aside your Mad Magazines and done some serious homework! You would also have heard CNN report on Hussein's intention to develop nuclear weapons. And you might have read Newsweek's September 3 issue in which it was reported by intelligence sources around the world that Iraq will have such a device within five years if they are not stopped! Did you ever hear that Hussein had used chemical weapons on his own countrymen when they protested their living standards? Yes, Mr. Hussein must be stopped!

And as for the price of oil, more homework on your part would have revealed that the week you wrote your article, oil had dropped $3.00 per barrel, and gas was down nationwide by 2.5 cents per gallon.

George Bush faced the same decision that Chamberlain faced in 1938 when Adolph Hitler said he had no intention of using military force. Chamberlain blew it. Bush didn't!

So, Mr. Fenne, next time you get an idea to write an editorial, make sure it is within the scope of your ability to read and digest what is being stated.

I am ashamed for Mammoth that such naivety and ineptitude was displayed in the Times. And I am embarrassed for Wally Hofmann that such dribble was allowed in his paper! In the wording of your generation, Mr. Fenne, get a clue!

Blood for Oil

Editor:

Well done "Cliff Notes" [by Marlowe Fenne] on "Blood for Oil."

It's easy to demonize "Arabs" who have been regularly demonized in Golan-Globus terrorist films and the generally pro-Zionist-American press.

Where is our energy policy established 10 years ago? Nixed by Reagan-Bush.

When we salute our flag now (I don't), we must add: Oil Is To Die For.

Full Speed Ahead

Editor:

Damn the kids: Full speed ahead with the lawsuit.

Congratulations to the superintendent of M.U.S.D. I'm sure it took a bit of soul searching and heartache, not to mention legal advice, to come up with the lawsuit decision.

But hark! Do not despair. I have the proper solution. Let's pattern M.U.S.D. after Lee Vining's. It took exceptional talent, I.Q. and determination to come up with a viable solution. Then all will "Be Happy" and have "No Worries."

Huskies Play #1 Ranked Whittier

The Mammoth Huskies recently battled it out with the Whittier Christian Heralds, ranked number 1 in Division IX, in a non-league game held September 15. Although the Heralds won 14-0 by scoring two touchdowns in the second half, the Huskies managed to hold the Heralds scoreless in the first two quarters.

Two fumbles were recovered by the Huskies in the first half. Aaron Lones and Chris Andrews both nabbed Whittier fumbles near the Huskies 42 yard line, but neither turnover was turned into a score.

Husky Daron Dondero blocked the extra point after Whittier's Ron Rector ran for the touchdown in the third quarter, and the Heralds lead 6-0.

After a long but scoreless drive, the Huskies had to punt, and the Whittier offense barrelled down the field again with Rex Pritchard scoring on a ten yard breakaway. Pritchard ran in for a two point conversion, making the score 14-0.

In spite of Whittier's crushing defense, the Husky offense made a noble but scoreless effort, with Kyle O'Kelly leading the running attack, covering 96 yards. Dondero managed another good air show, completing 15 of 27 passes for 124 yard with one interception.

Despite the outcome, Coach Tom Gault was proud of the valiant effort made by the Husky team. He said the team has improved greatly over the past few weeks and playing tough pre-season games like the one against Whittier will pay off in the latter part of the season.

Huskies Trample Bishop Broncos

September 13 proved to be a very unlucky day for the Bishop Broncos when they were overwhelmed by the number 1 ranked Mammoth Huskies.

The Huskies, who remain undefeated this year, won the match and all but the first game: 10-15, 15-13, 15-11 and 16-14. Much improved over past weeks, the Broncos won the first game, lead in game two and tied in games three and four, giving the Huskies a good run for their money on several occasions.

In the final match, the Broncos managed to tie the score at 14, refusing to yield to the overpowering Huskies until the bitter end.

Although several penalties were called for illegal substitutions and many service errors occurred, both teams are rapidly improving and promise to be strong contenders as the season progresses.

Huskies Tennis:

Lundgren and Kauffman are Dynamic Duo

By Sue Hollister

Dana Lundgren and Melissa Kauffman won all three matches at the Huskies' first tennis meet against Desert in Mammoth September 11. In all three rounds, Lundgren and Kauffman held their opponents to only two points. "That's incredible when a doubles team can not only win all three matches, but not allow the opponent to score more than two points," Head Coach Chuck Scatolini said.

Despite the valiant effort by the Lundgren and Kauffman, the Huskies lost their first match 8-10.

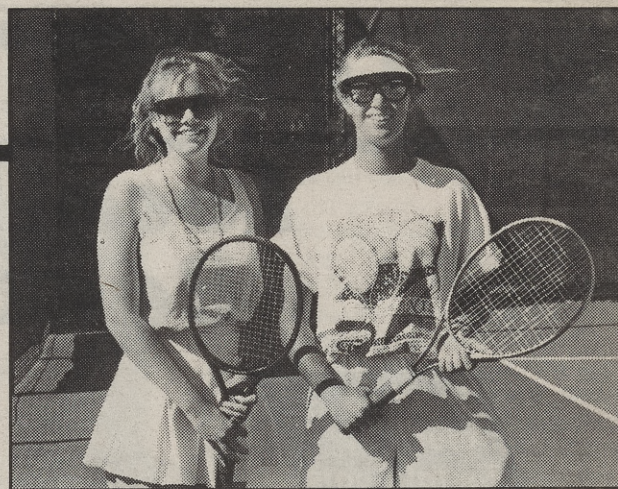

Husky singles players had their work cut out for them as they all faced Desert's Brenda Vought. A junior, Vought is ranked 103 in the Southern California Tennis Association in the 16 and Under category. "She's an excellent player," said Husky Michelle Suiter. "Her serves are excellent, and she aces the ball everywhere."

Because she is used to competing in more demanding tournaments in Los Angeles, Vought finds it difficult at times playing against competitors in Desert Inyo league. "It's hard because you have to keep your level of playing up at all times," she commented.

Husky Jennifer De Lavigne played the best match against Vought on Tuesday, winning one game with some excellent serves. "I went into the game with confidence and played smart," De Lavigne said. "I was hoping for two games."

Losing one game upset Vought, and in the following game she faulted her first serve. Scores were tied at deuce on three occasions, but De Lavigne was unable to capitalize on the opportunities.

Coach Scatolini summed up the match by saying: "The seniors played like seniors, performing and playing very well. The less experienced players found out how tough a match can be."

MHS doubles tennis team, Melissa Kauffman and Dana Lundgren (team captain) played well against Desert.

Ruby Wins Junior Tennis Tourney

By Brian Denny

Over 100 junior tennis players from California and Nevada gathered in Reno, Nevada on September 8 and 9 to compete in the Caughlin Club 1990 Junior Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Mammoth Lakes entries in the 10 year division were Dillon Ruby and Yale Miller.

Ruby was the #1 seed in the 10 year division and proved he was worthy by winning the tournament without losing a set. Ruby's tennis abilities were unmatched as he fought his way to straight set victories in four matches to capture the trophy.

In the final championship match, Ruby dominated his undefeated opponent with superior cross-court groundstrokes and net play. Final score: 6-0, 6-1.

MHS X-C Runners

Race in Carson City

On Saturday, September 8, a group of Mammoth High School cross-country runners participated in the Jim Frank Invitational (for high school and junior high school runners) in Carson City, Nevada. Racing against teams and individuals from all over northern and central Nevada and California gave the Mammoth runners a different picture of competitive cross-country.

Freshman Tim McAtter ran in the frosh/soph boys race and turned in a time of 13:03 for the 2-mile race, placing 27th out of 52 runners. He ran a very smart race, running at an even pace. It is a common mistake to start out too fast in a race.

The varsity boys ran in a field of 87 runners, finishing with the following places and times:

19th	David Melkonian	17:49
37th	Neil Satterfield	19:27
40th	Tony Gasperov	19:38
44th	Mike Hicks	19:54
49th	Billy O'Sullivan	20:24
58th	Ryan Murano	21:18

The entire group ran excellent times for this early-season race. The course was flat and fast, but also slightly longer than most of the courses used in the D.I.L. It was a 5K (3.1 mile) course. Mammoth High School cross-country coach Eileen Burger said, "I am especially pleased with the performances turned in by Tony Gasperov and Mike Hicks, who are both new to the team, and who will really help make this a strong varsity team."

On August 24, Dave McCoy, owner/operator of Mammoth Mountain Ski Area, turned 75. World famous wildlife artist Douglas Van Howd will help Dave celebrate his 75th year in style. On September 21 at 10 a.m., Van Howd will present Dave with a bronze replica of the extinct Woolly Mammoth.

Dave McCoy, who said that his 75th birthday "has been the best ever," is happy to see that after 40 years of operation Mammoth Mountain finally has its "Mammoth."

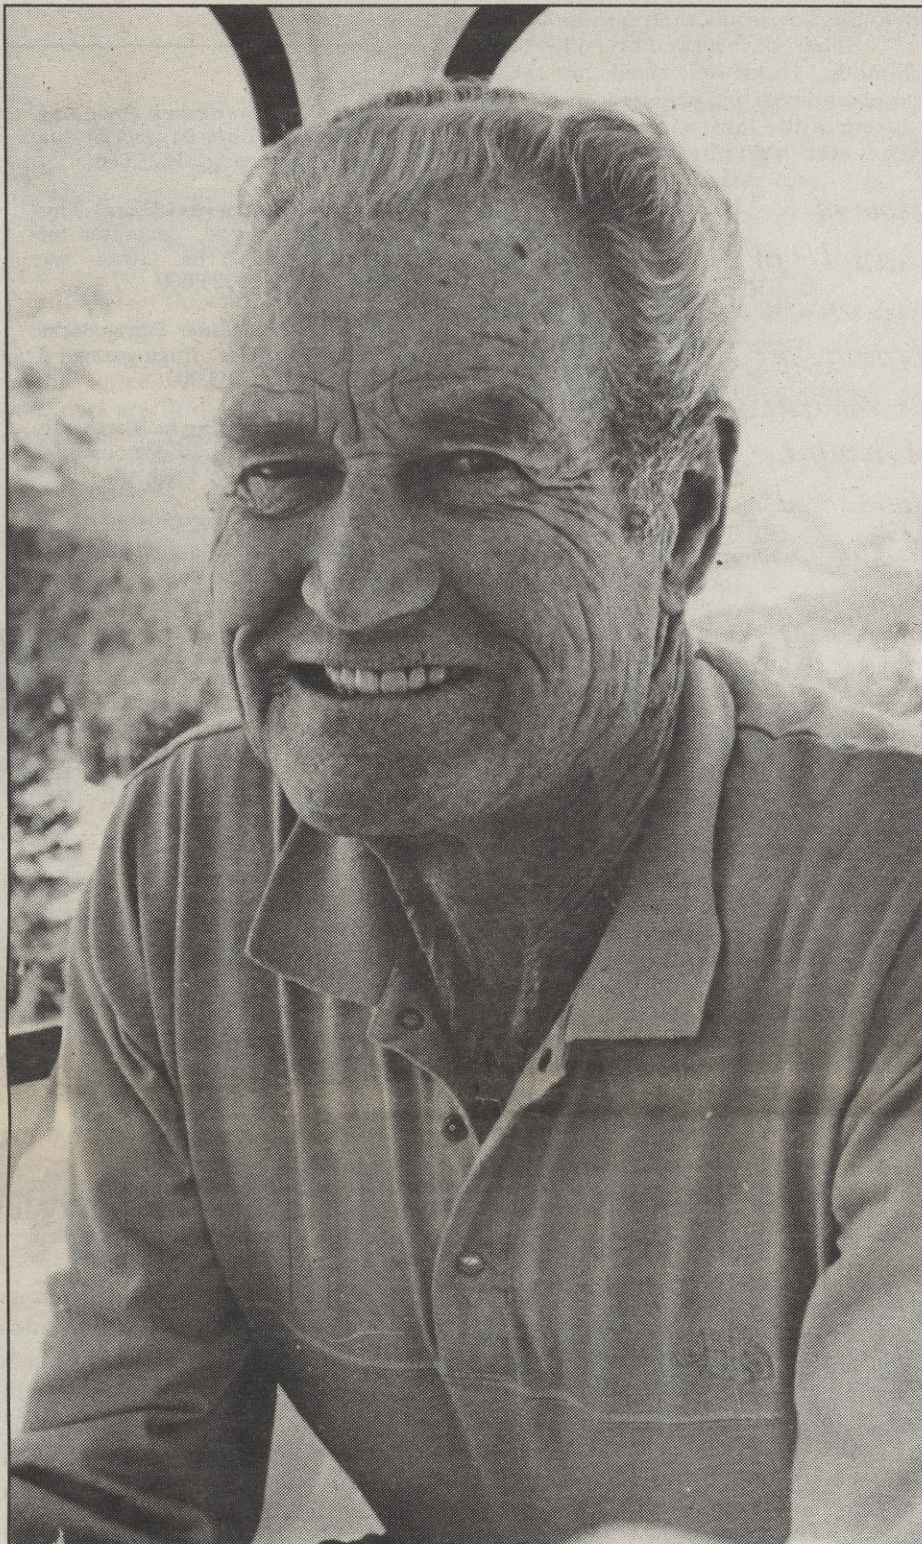

Dave was born August 24, 1915, in Los Angeles. His father, William Thomas McCoy, worked in an oil refinery. His mother's name was Edna Rachel Medcalf.

Dave spent the first six years of his life in El Segundo, California. From age 6 until age 12 he traveled the length of California with his parents, living in various towns along State Highway 99 while his father worked as a highway construction contractor.

When Dave was 12 years old, his mother brought him to Independence, California, near Bishop for a visit. He fell in love with the area and decided this was the place where he was going to settle.

While in high school in Buckley, Washington, Dave learned how to ski with some Norwegian ski jumpers who told him "just point 'em down the hill and ride." Every chance Dave got he hiked up White Pass Mountain and skied straight down as fast as possible.

After graduating from high school in Buckley, Washington, he hitched his way working odd jobs (picking cherries, gold mining in Sierra City, tying flies) to pay his way back to Independence. He arrived in Independence late in the afternoon on Labor Day in 1935. He started work that night as a dishwasher and waiter. The owner of the restaurant let him live in the garage, where he stayed for a year.

Dave McCoy

The Patriarch of Mammoth turns 75

While working in Independence, Dave caught his first glimpse of the woman he was going to marry. "I was working as a soda jerk when the Bishop cheerleaders stopped in on their way to Lone Pine to a game. I took one look at this girl and knew she was something special. I didn't even get to ask her name." It wasn't until two years later when Dave was living in Bishop that he got the chance to be introduced to Roma. Dave liked to tie his skis to the back of his motorcycle and take off for the mountains with a good friend. It turned out that his friend had a sister whom he finally met in 1937. She was the very cheerleader he had seen two years earlier. Roma was living with her grandmother and aunt and was working to help support them. Dave and Roma dated for four years before they got married, then raised six children.

During that time, Dave's love for skiing kept him very active in the sport. He was ski racing, winning one event after another, and at 22 years old he was California State Champion. That year he entered a race at Sugar Bowl, California, where he broke his leg. Doctors counted over 38 fractures and wanted to amputate his leg, but Dave wouldn't allow it. Over four years, Dave rehabilitated his leg with Roma's help. Although he still walks with a slight limp, he continues to race and win events.

While Dave continued working for the Department of Water and Power, he also helped Tex Cushin on Courtey Hill at McGee Mountain. As a member of the Eastern Sierra Ski Club, Dave helped keep the cable sling lift maintained and running. He also helped build the club's first portable rope tow. They took a Model "A" Ford truck, pulled the drive wheel off, locked the brake, jacked up the rear end and ran a rope up the mountain to a pulley. They were able to go wherever the snow was the best along the valley from Independence to Bridgeport. Between 1936 and 1941 there were at least 26 different rope tow operators along the valley.

In 1938, Dave got the permit to McGee Mountain. He bought the lifts from the Eastern Sierra Ski Club for $85.00. Since he had been doing all the maintenance on the lifts, he knew how to maintain and operate them. He hocked his motorcycle to get a bank loan. When asked if it was hard to part with his motorcycle, he said, "No, it was just hard to convince the bank to give me $85.00 for it." At that time Roma was working as a secretary for the bank and was able to convince them it was a good idea.

In 1941, Dave obtained a roving permit for his own portable rope tow. With his knowledge of snow pack and snow melt, he set up his lift where the snow pack was the best. He took his portable rope tow into Mammoth when weather would allow it and the roads were clear. They were skiing in Mammoth on December 7 when they heard on the radio that World War II had begun. They packed the rope tow into the truck, and skiing came to a stop in the Eastern Sierra.

Immediately after the war, Dave installed his first permanent rope tows on the north side of Mammoth Mountain. The Forest Service decided to put Mammoth Mountain up for bid, but no one bid on it, including Dave, because he didn't have the money. In 1953, the Forest Service awarded Dave the permit under the condition that he start developing the mountain. He already had a thriving rope tow business, and Mammoth was entertaining more skiers than any other California operation, including those with chairlifts.

Dave went to the bank and asked for $135,000 to build a chair, add on to the existing hut and pay salaries for a year. The bank thought it was too much of a risk and turned him down. Walter Martinoni, who had built chairs for Donner Summit and Snow Summit, had built a chair for a client who decided he didn't want it. Dave said if Walter agreed to give him the chair, he would install it and pay Walter as soon as he made money. Walter agreed. Dave and a group of hardcore skiers built their own crane, dug the tower holes by hand, mixed the cement, and installed the motor, brakes, clutches and drive system. Mammoth Mountain's first chairlift (Chair 1) opened on Thanksgiving Day in 1955, in time to meet his permit requirements. Since then, Dave has installed approximately one lift every year, and Mammoth's crews still, to this day, install their own lifts.

Then Dave moved his family to Mammoth. He actively skied, ran the business and coached young racers, and he is one of the most successful racing coaches ever in ski history. In his short time of coaching, more than 19 of his racers competed on the United States Olympic Ski Team. One year almost the entire U.S. Olympic Women's Team was made up of Mammoth racers.

Dave's coaching success helped distinguish Mammoth as a great ski area. As Dave's racers, including four of his children, competed and won in ski races across the country and in Europe, other competitors and coaches would ask, "Who is this Dave McCoy and where is this Mammoth?" Parents began sending their children from all over the country to ski at Mammoth under Dave's famous coaching.

After building his first chairlift in 1955, Dave went on to build one of the largest ski resorts in the country. Today, Mammoth Mountain has 30 lifts, three large day lodges, a hotel, two restaurants, a large maintenance facility and much more. In 1986 he bought nearby June Mountain. Eventually, Dave plans to connect the two mountains making it the largest "world class" resort. MT

FELICIA FLYCASTER

The Kittredge Sports Fishing Report

Backcountry Fishing

There's standing room only for the circus act fish on the San Joaquin River. They've been leaping out of the water trying to catch my #18 Female Adams before the fly even hits the water. Don't think about taking mid-afternoon intermission, because these fish love to play all day. Your fishing license is a small fee to pay for a show like this. Swim a worm through some of the slower pools for brown trout results.

About 15 years ago, I got a lot of funny looks as I loaded my toad-looking belly boat and fin set up in the lakes. People still look, but now they're in disbelief of the size trout caught Crowley Lake. You really don't need a sink tip line — just bring some heavy 3X or 4X leader, Perch Fry flies with a silvery body and a few Olive Matukas. Luck usually comes along for the ride.

Backcountry fishing has been very, very good to me. Take a short hike up the Duck Pass trail, and there are lakes filled with rainbows ready to be caught on Elk Hair Caddis flies.

It's a real heart stopper to catch a four pound brown on a salmon egg at Twin Lakes in the chilly early morning. Even the night crawlers are getting up early for a morning dunk, and that's not in the coffee. A lot of 2 and 2 1/2-pounders are finding the crawlers very tasty. I find the fish very tasty barbecued. Who's bringing the salad?

Lots of limits and lots of brown trout from Rock Creek lake are appearing on dinner tables. Use the old Eeny, meeny, miny, mo method to choose between a gold Kastmaster or frog Super Duper lure. That's about how I choose my football picks. Successful? I'll tell you next week.

Till next week, good fishing from Felicia.

Hot at the net

Yale Miller, 10, and Dillon Ruby, 10, doubles partners, show off their trophy they won at the 10 and under singles tourney at Caughlin Club in Reno. Yale also made the semi-finals. See story page 18.

a place to make a stand. We'd have a chance."

"The Forest Service is especially concerned about fires. Here we have a community that has a potential for fire starting, simply because there's people here and people start fires. Once a fire starts, it could move into their area. That's the reason why we're partners in this fuel break, because if a fire does start in town, the Forest Service wants a way to keep it here. Our feeling is if a fire starts in the forest, we want to keep it there and not let it spread into town." With all these projects underway, what other concerns does Chief Sweeny have?

Affordable Housing

Initially it sounds out of context, but Chief Sweeny has a unique dilemma based on a familiar issue. "Our pool of volunteers is shrinking, and the reason is there's no housing here for the worker bees: the people that run this town, the people that can volunteer. I can't ask the business owners, they just can't spend the kind of time it takes to run this department on a volunteer basis. So I'm really concerned about affordable housing. It effects us a lot. We've already lost a lot of guys that still work in town, but live in Bishop and can't be on the Fire Department here. It just doesn't work."

It's All Teamwork

When asked what occasion made him most proud of his men, Sweeny responds: "Anytime. All the time. This rookie testing, for example. The fact that all these guys came down here and helped these new guys through the training. That is really important. It shows that the department is pulling together as a group. We need that kind of cohesion."

Problems are for solving, and Sweeny knows the MLFD has a reliable partner—the community. "We're very pleased that the community has given us as much support as they have. When we've asked, the community has always helped us out. We appreciate the fact that the business people are willing to give the guys time off to go to fires."

Chief Sweeny circumvents the suggestion that the MLFD is an unsung hero in the community. "We're not looking for any accolades from anyone. All we ask is that when we have problems, like the fire hazard this summer, people help out. And they have. I think people are really aware of what's been going on and have been very careful. That's really helped us."

Monday Mayhem

Whether you're a die-hard football fan or just a people watcher, Monday night is the time to be out and about enjoying the wild times to be had during Monday Night Football. From beer specials to stadium food and prizes, almost every restaurant and bar in Mammoth has something to lure in the Monday Night maniacs, offering patrons great deals in a fun environment.

Perry's Pizza has had something special for football fans since the first Monday Night Football broadcast in 1971. According to owner Rodger Guffey, Perry's has offered Monday night promotions longer than anyone in Mammoth, and this season will be no different. While viewing the game in front of the big screen TV, fans can enjoy 93-cent pepperoni pizza slices, and $2 well drinks. During gametime, wine costs $1 a glass, and draft beer is 75 cents. For extra-thirsty football fanatics, pitchers of beer cost only $3.50. How do you celebrate a touchdown? With a kamikaze shooter, of course, which is on special after field goals and touchdowns. All specials start at 5 p.m., one hour before gametime.

Gringo's Mexican Restaurant and Bar is another good call for football aficionados. This colorful restaurant has many football and fun-related activities. Feel lucky? Sign-up on the free football pool anytime during the week. If you pick the square which coincides with the end-of-quarter score, you win! Prizes include t-shirts and an after-game dinner in the restaurant. Even if you have only $5 in your pocket, you can live it up at Gringo's. Quarter-pound Corona beer-boiled hot dogs cost just $1.25, and 14-ounce drafts are also $1.25. And what would a touchdown or field goal be without a shooter special?

For the best football deal in town, try La Sierra's. Enjoy the game on a giant screen TV while taking advantage of the great food and drink deals. Hot dogs cost just 50 cents each and draft beer is only $1.

With the great variety of places to go, you could catch the game at a different place every Monday Night. Roone Arledge may have thought that he was just promoting Football when he brought the NFL to prime time. In Mammoth, however, it has turned into more fun and craziness than he could have ever imagined.

Endless Summer Party

To Mammoth locals, summer has always been a special, secret season. In fact, many locals think it's the best season of all.

Although the summer is wonderful, it is all-too short, and many locals are a little sad to see it pass.

Grumpy's, the dominating force in summer daylight activities, and the Ocean Club, the summer-time after dark party place, are joining forces to create a Mammoth end-of-summer celebration. Circle Tuesday, September 25 in red on your calendar, because that's when the Endless Summer Party will run all day long and into the night.

Grumpy's Saloon and Eatery plans to dish up all kinds of fun. One sand volleyball court will be the sight of a four, six or eight-person volleyball tournament. To keep things fun for all and make the matches as fair as possible, teams will be formed through a blind drawing after registration at 10 a.m.

The second volleyball court will be the site of the horseshoe tournament, and inside, the two-man teams will be battling it out in the shuffleboard tournament. Registration for all competitions is from 10 to 11 a.m.

After you work up an appetite, enjoy $1 hot dogs and $3 hamburgers from the barbecue. A number of drink specials will also be available to celebrate the end of summer.

All contests are scheduled to be completed between 3 and 4 p.m., so get there early. After the competition, participants and spectators can go home and rest up for the party and awards ceremony to take place at 7:30 p.m. at the Ocean Club.

Even if you miss the daytime activities, there will be plenty of nighttime entertainment for all. Enjoy drink specials and Ocean Club's fish tacos while you wait for the dancing to begin. Then get wild as DJ Tee Dub spins hit after hit of danceable music.

Very few people want to see summer end. But if it has to, send it off with a bang. Don't miss the Endless Summer Party planned by Grumpy's and Ocean Harvest on Tuesday September 25. For more information call 934-8539 or 934-8587.

SOAP OPERA inDIGESTion

ALL MY KIDS... Summer's over, and many local kids have left to return to college. Shannon O'Kelly went back to Loyola Marymount. Jed Reitman leaves a great paying summer job at Ocean Harvest to attend a university in San Diego. University of Nevada at Reno is welcoming back Max Good, who, despite his one-year internship at Mammoth Times, is still considering a career in journalism.

The Not-So-Young and Restless... A few friends got together with Diana Carey to celebrate her turning the big three-o Saturday, September 8. Like many a Mammoth shindig, the party ended up at the Creek where the band graciously lead the entire club in a rousing rendition of "Happy Birthday." When the music ended, the birthday girl was M.I.A., and no one knew where she'd got to or with whom. I guess it's another case for Unsolved Mysteries.

The Guiding Flight.... Look! Up in the air! Is it a bird? A plane? No, it's a printer! Don Shields of Village Printer recently flew to Reno with his wife, Joyce. Not only was it this brave lady's first flight, but Don just recently got his pilot's license. I would love to have been a fly on the wall of that cockpit, provided I was heavily insured.

As the Tan Fades... The end of summer usually has me kicking and screaming. I don't want it to end. But when Ocean Harvest and Grumpy's get together to throw a volleyball spikin', record spinnin', beer drinkin', horse-shoe tossin', dirty dancin', end-o-the-summer fiesta, I don't mind it so much. I tell you, I'm going to be there with bells on, on September 25... along with half the town. Call 934-8539 or 934-8587 for more information.

One Gift To Give... It was one surprise after another for Barry Scott on Monday, August 27. His wife Ernie, who helps him manage the Chamonix Condominiums, arranged a huge surprise party commemorating his 60th birthday. Many friends and family members who kept popping in throughout the festivities enjoyed the delicious spread which was catered by O'Kelly and Dunn. Of the many surprises Barry endured, the biggest was two old Navy buddies showing up. (I've always had a soft spot for sailors) Ernie, who's often complained about the shirts Barry wears, happily announced that Barry received enough plaid and striped shirts to last him for quite a while.

General Reptile... What was in that punch? Robin Falkingham, who owns The Skiers' Sport Shop with wife Emily, must have had some birthday bash. It seems that during the party, pet turtle Red escaped. Now, unless this turtle is of the teenage mutant ninja type, I don't see how 25 adults would have so much trouble locating the slow-footed, shell-encased reptile. Luckily, 11-year-old Trevor Neubauer was there to track down and rescue the wily turtle from under a nearby deck.

The Bold and the Brainy... Do you remember reading about Mike Peterson, the son of Mammoth High School principal Judy Peterson, and her husband Walt in The Times last month? Mike's attending the tres prestigious prep school, Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire during his senior year of high school. Apparently, he has been named a semi-finalist in the 1991 National Merit Scholarship Program. Out of more than 92,000 students eligible in California, Mike placed 151st. The final selection this spring could lead to any number of scholarships, including a National Merit Scholarship. Way to go, Mike!

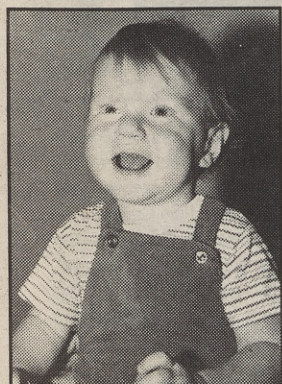

My deepest condolences to Steve Engel, whose mother passed away two weeks ago. God bless you and yours.

North Village EIR Discussed

No Public Input Offered

By G. Marlowe Fenne

Elements to be included in an upcoming EIR for North Village were discussed by the Town Planning Commission during a regular meeting September 12. According to Town staff, the North Village Specific Plan Scoping session was held to determine the parameters of an upcoming EIR to be prepared for the project.

Local residents, however, had nothing to offer at the meeting. Despite the large quantity of publicity over the past year, a number of public notices and an invitation for public comment by the Center for Settlement Services, virtually no public testimony was heard on the project. Planning Commissioners, however, made several comments.

"The EIR should be very comprehensive, because once adopted, many future plans will be based upon this EIR," said Commissioner Byng Hunt. He also called for the EIR to include cumulative impacts, a concern which has become increasingly important during EIR hearings on recent large projects.

According to interim Planning Director Bill Taylor, an initial study of North Village was completed more than one year ago, and it was concluded at that time that an in-depth EIR addressing virtually every impact issue would be called for by the Town staff.

Rusty Gregory of the North Village group attended the hearing and agreed with the commissioners and Town staff that every possible impact should be considered in the EIR.

North Village's final specific plans were received by the Town offices approximately one month ago, and a consultant will be hired to write the project's draft EIR by September 14, according to Taylor.

Once the draft EIR is begun, it could be completed in as little as seven weeks, he explained. The public will then have a 45 day period to review the document and offer feedback to the Planning Commission which will hold a public hearing during that circulation period. Once the responses are gathered, the consultant will incorporate them into a final EIR which will then be reviewed again by the Planning Commission and the Town Council.

Located at the corner of Minaret and Canyon Boulevard, the proposed North Village is a pedestrian-oriented development which includes a plaza area with approximately 800 new hotel rooms, 60,000 square feet of commercial space, 120 condominiums and a gondola base station on a 15.2 acre site.

Area Zoning Ordinances Reviewed

Council Offers Changes to Planning Commission

By G. Marlowe Fenne

SEVERAL CHANGES to local zoning ordinances have been discussed both by the Planning Commission and the Town Council lately. Changes which were proposed by the commission and then passed to the Council were recently reviewed at a Planning Commission meeting September 12.

The zoning changes were originally suggested by the Commission at a meeting in July, and they address many aesthetic and water-related in residential areas including:

- Prohibiting the location of trash dumpsters in single family zones except on active construction sites.
- Prohibiting the location of propane tanks in front yard setback areas.
- Allowing one solid fuel appliance per dwelling. The appliance will have to comply with Title 8 requirements of the Town Municipal Code.
- Elimination of a landscaping requirements for front and street side yards. Previously, it was required that all front and street side yards except walkways and driveways be landscaped in residential zones.
- Sprinkler systems shall be designed to water only landscaped areas and not to spray on impervious areas.

- Construction is prohibited within 50 feet of the shoreline of any lake or stream except for the development of public trails and facilities.

In commercial zones, changes were suggested for signs, parking, and other regulations:

- No building shall exceed 45 feet in height as measured vertically from the natural grade. (Some exceptions apply)
- Deletion of a snow-shedding ordinance which controls building setbacks between parcels.
- Government agencies are required to 1 parking space for each 200 square feet of building space plus one space for each government vehicle kept on site.

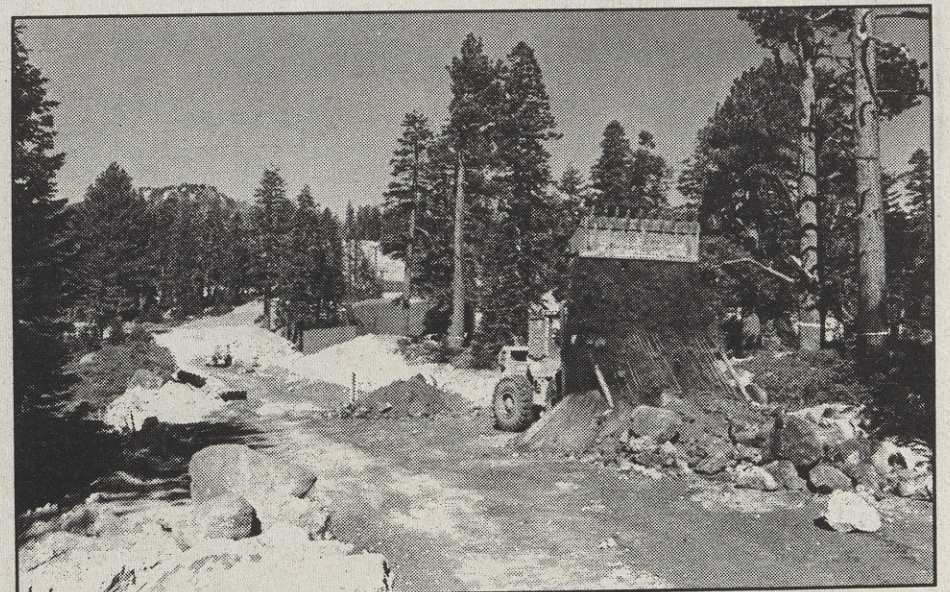

- No temporary writing will be allowed on signs in Town.

- Real estate signs for subdivisions may remain during construction, not to exceed two years following final construction inspection; or as long as a sales office is maintained in the subdivision.

After looking over the changes, the commission voted unanimously to accept the amendments as proposed. Soon, the alterations will be put into ordinance form and returned to the Town Council for final adoption.

Landscaping at Juniper Ridge continues as lot sales continue. According to Donna Tofal of Coldwell Banker, 28 of the 40 Juniper Ridge lots were reserved as of September 10. The Preliminary Public Report, which allows reservations to be accepted, was recently issued by the Real Estate Commissioner. See story page 32.

Johnson Withdraws Bluffs Application

In response to community concerns, Bill Johnson, purchaser of the "Bluffs" property in Old Mammoth, has withdrawn his subdivision application presently pending before Town government.

"My desire was to create something that Mammoth would be proud of, not be in conflict with people who care about Mammoth. I have been involved in Mammoth for over 21 years and I care a great deal about Mammoth as well. The idea for a place called Valhalla was my own dream of a beautiful residential area nestled in the mountains; I didn't realize some Mammoth residents would find the concept an intrusion imposed on them from outside. But you live and learn, which is what I'm doing. We will now return to the Bluffs as it was created many, many years ago and utilize the original planning that Mammoth is comfortable with. Instead of developing the whole parcel, we'll start with a few lots as far from the view shed as possible.

This will be a go-slow approach that will give my company and Mammoth the opportunity to have on-going discussions over a long period of time that I hope will reach a consensus as to the best way to enjoy, but not destroy, the Mammoth environment. Consistent with this approach, we invite input from any part of the community for help in preserving open-space and view shed values and honoring the historical qualities of the Bluffs while allowing its use as a wonderful rural neighborhood that people can enjoy for years to come.

"As we grow in our understanding of Mammoth, and as our relationships with local people interested in the environment deepen, we should be able to utilize our property in a way that is both fair to our investment and fair to the community.

Mammoth has a deep attachment to every piece of land that makes up the Town and this is something that must be understood and respected. Working through myself, Paul Oster, Ron Kriss, and my attorneys Paul Rudder and Richard Liebersbach, I'm sure we can get on the right track where Mammoth is concerned."

We will now return to the Bluffs as it was created many, many years ago and utilize the original planning that Mammoth is comfortable with.

"SAM" RONEY JOINS MAMMOTH PROPERTIES

Mammoth Properties Inc. welcomes Linda "Sam" Roney to their staff of sales associates. Roney has been licensed for over five years, "but I never really used it until I had so many people asking me about property down here." Although not active in sales until recently, she has studied the local market and observed trends from many years. A resident of Sunny Slopes for the last five years, Roney specializes in Crowley Lake and Swall Meadows properties.

As an additional occupation, Roney produces, repairs and cleans down sleeping bags, comforters and pillows. Her business, Good Stuff from Tom's Place, was formerly the Blue Goose in the Sierra Center Mall. For more information contact "Sam" Roney at Mammoth Properties by calling 934-6881 or 800-462-5575.

Sam Roney

allows reservations to be accepted, was recently issued by the Real Estate Commissioner. The final report, expected September 21, will allow exclusive agents Donna Tofal and Darcy Bauer to sign contracts for the purchase of the lots.

Tofal expects all improvements, such as street lights, paving, water and sewer lines to be completed by October 10. Construction by lot owners will most likely begin next spring. Lots sizes are approximately one quarter to one third of an acre, ranging in price from $175,000 to $265,000. For information about the 12 remaining lots at Juniper Ridge, contact Donna Tofal or Darcy Bauer at 934-2562 or 800-462-5583.

NO MONEY DOWN FINANCING

In an exclusive arrangement with broker Lloyd Sanders of Prudential Mammoth Sierra Properties, new Sales Associate Alexandra Muntean offers a unique no down payment financing program.

"It's a good way to get locals into homes," said Muntean. "Buyers may qualify for up to an 90 percent loan with little or no money down. All they have to pay is closing costs. It's easy to determine who's qualified, and once approved, the lender will issue a pre-qualification certificate within five days. Some people are skeptical, because it sounds too good to be true." The seller must be willing to carry 20 percent of the purchase price, or an investor may contribute as little as 10 percent.

Alexandra worked for 10 years as a sales trainer and top producing, top listing realtor in Simi Valley, where she successfully used these types of programs. A part-time resident, she has owned property in Mammoth for the past five years. For more information about the no down payment financing program, call Alexandra Muntean at 934-4501 or 800-851-6442.

LEN SOUZA AND MARK DAIGLE:

New Agents at Fairway Homes

Len Souza has recently joined the newly formed Snowcreek Realty. A former resident of Manhattan Beach, Souza served as committee member and chairman of both the Environmental Committee and the Public Works Commission.

"I'm very excited about this master planned development," said Souza. "I've observed in the past 14 years in coming to Mammoth that the higher quality developments always seem to be developed by Dempsey Corporation. I'm especially impressed by the high quality of construction, large open space designs, and beautiful landscaping. These observentions, plus the fact that I purchased Dempsey property as a visitor, lead me to seek this position marketing the Fairway homes."

The proposed Sherwin Creek Ski Area, and Mammoth's first golf course are "the icing on the cake," adds Souza. "These will be a real shot in the arm for the town of Mammoth and our ultimate goal of becoming a destination resort."

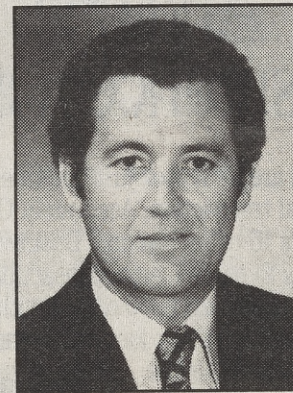

A retired Hewlett Packard Sales executive, Souza has lived in Mammoth for two years and currently conducts sales and management consulting and training throughout the United States as well as overseas. Contact Len Souza at 934-4445 or 800-545-4499.

When Mark Daigle originally came to Mammoth back in 1970, he knew he would some day live here. Before moving to the area, he worked for the family business, marketing real estate in Palm Springs and Rancho Palos Verdes. He then travelled to Cairo, Egypt, where he marketed time share projects throughout the Middle East. From 1984 to 1990, Daigle alternated between marketing, importing, and exporting materials to the Red Sea, the Sinai peninsula, and the North African coast and working at Sunset Realty back in the U.S. That situation ended last July when Daigle became a Sales Associate at Snowcreek Fairway Homes.

Daigle chose the Snowcreek Fairway Homes office because, in his opinion, "Dempsey makes the best product up here. Anyone who can last for 30 years in a town this small has got to be building quality."

Daigle continued: "He must be doing something right. That, as well as our golf

ENERGY EFFICIENCY PROGRAMS

What can you do if you want to help increase our nation's energy security? Try energy conservation! Southern California Edison has recently doubled its conservation budget with programs that help encourage energy efficiency and lessen our dependence on foreign resources.

These programs include:

- Residential Energy Management Incentive Program: This program provides cash rebates to residential customers who purchase and install energy efficient appliances (subject to certain restrictions), such as evaporative coolers, air conditioners, heat pumps and heat pump water heaters.

- Welcome Home Program: Incentives are offered to builders who construct homes, condominiums and apartments which surpass state energy efficiency standards.

- Customer Assistance programs: These are designed to help qualified, low-income customers, senior citizens, the permanently handicapped, and non-English speaking customers control their energy use. These include residential energy surveys, energy efficient relamping, evaporative cooler maintenance, installing clock thermostats, weatherization items and bilingual communication.

- Design for Excellence Program: This program awards money and recognition to the non-residential business community for integrating energy efficiency into building design.

- CIA Energy Surveys: Commercial, industrial and agricultural customers can obtain energy management information from specially trained energy services representatives.

- Hardware Rebate Program: This program provides cash rebates to commercial, industrial and agricultural customers who purchase and install energy efficient hardware that reduces energy usage or shifts demand.

- Pump Test Program: Agricultural customers and water districts can have their water pumps tested and evaluated by Edison.

- Electric Motor Pump Test Program: Commercial, industrial and agricultural customers are encouraged to use energy efficient electric motors as a pumping source to replace polluting internal combustion engines.

"SAM" RONEY JOINS MAMMOTH PROPERTIES

Mammoth Properties Inc. welcomes Linda "Sam" Roney to their staff of sales associates. Roney has been licensed for over five years, "but I never really used it until I had so many people asking me about property down here." Although not active in sales until recently, she has studied the local market and observed trends from many years. A resident of Sunny Slopes for the last five years, Roney specializes in Crowley Lake and Swall Meadows properties.

As an additional occupation, Roney produces, repairs and cleans down sleeping bags, comforters and pillows. Her business, Good Stuff from Tom's Place, was formerly the Blue Goose in the Sierra Center Mall. For more information contact "Sam" Roney at Mammoth Properties by calling 934-6881 or 800-462-5575.

Sam Roney

allows reservations to be accepted, was recently issued by the Real Estate Commissioner. The final report, expected September 21, will allow exclusive agents Donna Tofal and Darcy Bauer to sign contracts for the purchase of the lots.

Tofal expects all improvements, such as street lights, paving, water and sewer lines to be completed by October 10. Construction by lot owners will most likely begin next spring. Lots sizes are approximately one quarter to one third of an acre, ranging in price from $175,000 to $265,000. For information about the 12 remaining lots at Juniper Ridge, contact Donna Tofal or Darcy Bauer at 934-2562 or 800-462-5583.

NO MONEY DOWN FINANCING

In an exclusive arrangement with broker Lloyd Sanders of Prudential Mammoth Sierra Properties, new Sales Associate Alexandra Muntean offers a unique no down payment financing program.

"It's a good way to get locals into homes," said Muntean. "Buyers may qualify for up to an 90 percent loan with little or no money down. All they have to pay is closing costs. It's easy to determine who's qualified, and once approved, the lender will issue a pre-qualification certificate within five days. Some people are skeptical, because it sounds too good to be true." The seller must be willing to carry 20 percent of the purchase price, or an investor may contribute as little as 10 percent.

Alexandra worked for 10 years as a sales trainer and top producing, top listing realtor in Simi Valley, where she successfully used these types of programs. A part-time resident, she has owned property in Mammoth for the past five years. For more information about the no down payment financing program, call Alexandra Muntean at 934-4501 or 800-851-6442.

LEN SOUZA AND MARK DAIGLE:

New Agents at Fairway Homes

Len Souza has recently joined the newly formed Snowcreek Realty. A former resident of Manhattan Beach, Souza served as committee member and chairman of both the Environmental Committee and the Public Works Commission.

"I'm very excited about this master planned development," said Souza. "I've observed in the past 14 years in coming to Mammoth that the higher quality developments always seem to be developed by Dempsey Corporation. I'm especially impressed by the high quality of construction, large open space designs, and beautiful landscaping. These obser-

The New Indians

*When old age shall this generation waste,
Thou shalt remain, in midst of other woe
Than ours, a friend to man, to whom thou say'st
Beauty is truth, truth beauty - that is all Ye know on earth, and all ye need to know,"*
— John Keats
in Ode on A Grecian Urn.

Although it was not invented here, the process began here in America almost exactly five hundred years ago, and it hasn't stopped since...

In search of new lands and new riches, explorers came to the new world, where they found Indians. Hypnotizing the red man with a few shiny trinkets and promises, explorers and traders collected land, cut down trees, and built settlements. Those who objected were killed in the name of "civilization."

Indians were continually displaced from the land they had thrived on for centuries, and they retreated north and west to the very edges of the continent. When white settlers sought their fortunes in the west, great tribes of Sioux, Apache, Blackfoot, and many other groups were either killed or rounded up like cattle and closed into reservations in some of the most inhospitable regions of the country. Even here in the Eastern Sierra, the red man constantly lost his precious land to "progress."

Although only a handful of Indians are left, the struggle for land continues in the Eastern Sierra. Minerals, geothermal energy and many other abundant resources draw "explorers" here from all over the world seeking fortunes, and those of us who live here and love the area for its beauty rather than its wealth are quickly becoming the Indians of the modern day.

It can be safely said that most Mono County residents do not live in the area to get rich. We live here to enjoy the wealth of scenic beauty that nature is generous enough to provide. Many of us infinitely prefer the golden color of Aspen leaves in the fall to the gold of an 18 karat necklace. We live here because we prefer the green of the tall, majestic pines to the green of a dollar bill. The scenic beauty which we love so much is our greatest asset.

From all over the world, people travel here to share the scenic beauty by skiing, hiking and doing all the other outdoor activities which make being here so enjoyable. We welcome these visitors who share our appreciation for the area to come stay in Mammoth and tour the area which is, in essence, a large wilderness museum, one of the few areas left in the country which has not been plagued by smog, acid rain or other grim reminders of human insensitivity to the environment.

Other visitors, however, are not looking at the trees. They are looking at the minerals, at the water, and at the land and figuring out how to use these resources for profit. They are more concerned with their investments than how Mammoth will look 100 years from now when they are gone.

If they have enough money in the right people's faces, just like the traders of old, some of these profiteers may have their way... but only if they are allowed to do so.

Organizations like the Town and the County Planning Commissions and many others help protect the area from the ravages of money mongers. But their powers and vision are limited, and they need our help. They need community support and community involvement. They need to hear that people really do care about what happens in the Eastern Sierra, and they need people to stand up and publicly oppose projects and operations which could irreparably change the beautiful face of the surrounding area.

The process continues... sooner or later, we will all be gone. But let's not let the timeless beauty of Mammoth be as mortal as the human beings who enjoy it. Let's take a stand and do what we can to make sure that nature is abused no further here or anywhere else. Let's not end up like the Indians who fought so bravely and yet lost... divested, sullen, displaced, and wondering how it all happened so fast.
